

How healthy is your workforce? Is their financial stress impacting productivity?

Improve your bottom line by improving your employees' lives.

Wellness is multi-dimensional.

WellQ was created to address all aspects of wellness, all in one place. From sick care for everyday illnesses to a lifestyle medicine consult and coaching for the future, a WellQ membership pairs clinical care with financial expertise.

Why should you provide WellQ Memberships to your team?

- Adults who experience financial stress are more likely to cope by smoking, overeating, drinking alcohol and leading a more sedentary lifestyle*
- Unhealthy people are more absent and/or distracted at work
- Recruit and retain top talent with a benefit that elevates your company above the competition
