

ALLEGACY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
TRUTH IN SAVINGS DISCLOSURE

Except as specifically described, the following disclosures apply to Allegacy Federal Credit Union's ("Credit Union") share savings, money market, checking, Health Savings Account ("HSA"), Individual Retirement Account ("IRA"), Holiday Club and Vacation Club retail account types. The member is sometimes referred to as "member" and sometimes "you" in this disclosure as the context may warrant.

1. Rate Information. The Annual Percentage Yield is a percentage rate that reflects the total amount of dividends to be paid on an account based on the dividend rate and frequency of compounding for an annual period. The Dividend Rate and the Annual Percentage Yield may change daily as determined by the Credit Union in its discretion without prior notice. All rates are variable unless otherwise stated. The Dividend Rates and Annual Percentage Yields are the prospective rates and yields that the Credit Union anticipates paying for the applicable dividend period. For all Tiered rate accounts, except the SmartRate Checking Account, once a particular balance range is met, the Dividend Rate and Annual Percentage Yield for that balance range will apply to the full balance of your account. The Credit Union may offer special rate promotions from time to time based on your account relationship with us. All current rates with tiers, if applicable, may be found on the Credit Union's most current Rate Schedule. You may obtain the most current Rate Schedule and Fee Schedule for your Credit Union accounts, by calling the Credit Union at 1.800.782.4670/336.774.3400 or by visiting www.allegacy.org or a Credit Union financial center.

2. Nature of Dividends. Dividends are paid from current income and available earnings after required transfers to reserves at the end of the dividend period.

3. Compounding and Crediting. The compounding and crediting frequency of dividends and the dividend period applicable to each account type are set forth in the Rate Schedule. For dividend bearing accounts, the Dividend Period begins on the first calendar day of the period and ends on the last calendar day of the period.

4. Accrual of Dividends. Dividends will begin to accrue on noncash deposits (e.g. checks) on the business day you make the deposit to your account.

5. Minimum Balance. To open and maintain any account at the Credit Union, you must deposit or already have on deposit at least the par value of one full share ($5.00) in a share account. Some accounts may have additional minimum opening account requirements. The minimum balance requirements applicable to the account type are set forth in the Rate Schedule. If you fail to maintain the minimum required balance, then you will not earn the annual percentage yield stated in the Rate Schedule.

6. Balance Computation Method. Dividends are calculated using the daily balance method which applies a daily periodic rate to the balance in the account each day.

7. Transfers to Third Parties (Regulation D). You may make no more than six (6) withdrawals and transfers from your share savings or money market account to another account of yours or to a third party in any month by means of a preauthorized, automatic, or computer transfer, telephonic order or instruction, whether initiated by check, draft, debit card or similar order during any calendar month, statement cycle, or similar periods of at least four (4) weeks. If you exceed these limitations, your account may be subject to a fee or be closed. Credit Union accounts affected by this limitation are Beginners Best Kids Savings, Daily Access, Daily Access Secured, Certificate Rollover Savings, Retail Money Market, and Retail High Tier Money Market accounts.

8. Fees for Overdrawing Accounts. Fees for overdrawing your account may be imposed on each check, draft, item, ATM transaction and one-time debit card transaction (if member has consented to overdraft protection plan for ATM and one-time debit card transactions), preauthorized automatic debit, telephone initiated withdrawal or any other electronic withdrawal or transfer transaction (collectively "Item") that is drawn on an insufficient available account balance. The entire balance in your account may not be available for withdrawal, transfer or paying a check, draft or item. You may consult the Funds Availability Policy Disclosure for information regarding the availability of funds in your account. Fees for overdrawing your account may be imposed for each overdraft, regardless of whether we pay or return the draft, item or transaction. If we have approved an overdraft protection limit for your account, such fees may reduce your approved limit. Please refer to the Fee Schedule for current fee information. Services and fees for overdrafts are shown in the document the credit union uses to capture the member's opt-in choice for overdraft protection and the Schedule of Fees. Please note that a separate fee will be charged to you one-time for the same Item that is presented or re-presented against insufficient funds. The payee or the payee's institution may re-present a previously returned item several times for payment; these re-presentments are outside of the Credit Union's control. If the second and any subsequent presentments are returned unpaid, we will not charge a NSF fee for each time, after the first attempt by the merchant.

9. Bylaws Requirements. A member who fails to complete payment of one share within 60 days of admission to membership, or within 60 days from the increase in the par value of shares, or a member who reduces the share balance below the par value of one share and does not increase the balance to at least the par value of one share within 60 days of reduction will be terminated from membership. Subscription to shares are payable at the time of subscription. The Credit Union reserves the right, at any time, to require members to give not more than 60 days' written notice of intention to withdraw the whole or any part of the amounts so paid by them. No member may withdraw shareholdings that are pledged as required for security on loans without the approval of the Credit Union, except to the extent such shares exceed the member's total primary and contingent liability to the Credit Union. No member may withdraw shareholdings below the amount of the member's primary or contingent liability to the Credit Union if the member is delinquent as a borrower, or if borrowers for whom the member is a co-maker, endorser, or guarantor are delinquent.

The accounts qualifying as share accounts (and thereby enable one to join the Credit Union) are the share savings accounts, the HSA accounts, and the All Health Wellness accounts.
